

Another story

Another story

Is the one of the man

Now old and alone

Who approached a river

Believing he would find

Food there

To satisfy his hunger

But on seeing himself

In the water

Which moved without direction or understanding

He discovered with horror

The face of a strange being

Which seemed to look at him

Wanting to suck him into the depths of the water

Powerless to understand

The meaning of such a vision

The old man thought himself useless

Believing that at his age

He would have done with pain
Anguish
And desperation
For an eternity
Some superior being
Seemed to amuse himself
Attacking the final days of the poor devil
Feeling the painful emptiness
In his stomach
He decided to leave that place
Where he had hoped for comfort
And found fright